

Rules for Pronunciation

This page describes the rules of pronunciation, as used by the Amsterdam Portuguese community. See references below.

Some browsers do not show the punctuation correctly, therefore you can find all, including the hyperlinks to the recordings in this pdf file.

Rules for pronunciation of letters.

For ease of reading, Hebrew words are transliterated in this site, based on <http://www.jewfaq.org/alephbet.htm>.

Rules for Pronunciation

In 1956, Mr Jacq. Pais, the teacher of our community, made a booklet to teach the children Hebrew reading. The first 8 pages have Hebrew words transliterated to Dutch. Below I bring some examples. It shows how to pronounce the letters and the vowels for Dutch speakers.

Although the booklet's name is "שפה ברורה", it was referred to as "koe doet boe boe", the last line of the first page, see last example below.

Recording of the examples (JBS)

Dutch	transliterated
je jas zit goed	יֵ יַס זִיט גוֹט
de jacht hond zit hier	דֵ יַחַת הֶנֶט זִיט הִיר
dat gewicht is goed	דַּת גְּוִיכַת אִס גוֹט
als nicht komt ga ik	אַלס נִיכַת קוֹמַת גַּ אִיק
koe doet boe boe	קוֹ דוֹעַט בּוֹ בּוֹ

Sheva rules.

A short summary of the shuva rules can be found here. For a more complete list see e.g.

<http://www.torahresource.com/Hebrew%20MP3/Sheva%20rules.pdf>

Sheva Na rules, as formulated by R' Eliyahu Bachur (16th cent.). It

- 1) occurs under the first letter of a word;
- 2) is the second of two Shevas in the middle of a word;
- 3) occurs after a long unaccented vowel;
- 4) occurs under a letter which has a Dagesh;
- 5) occurs between identical letters.

All other Shuvas are Nach ('silent'). The letters begad kefat normally receive a Dagesh at the beginning of a word or in the middle of a word after a Shuva Nach
